Reader's Opinions

Are birds the direct descendants of dinosaurs? Fossilized feathered creatures with dinosaur characteristics were found in China in 2003. Could this have been the link paleontologists needed to connect dinosaurs with today's birds? The answer is not exactly present in the book because new discoveries are always being made. (Also since...

A quick read from one paleontologist's POV regarding the potential evolution of feathers based on Chinese fossil beds. Written for the layperson, a quick and entertaining read - part memoir/travelogue and part scientific treatise.
